Mr. Sidney P. Moon,
New York, N.Y.

Dear Sir:

The Dramatic Society of the New Jersey College for Women, sister college to Rutgers, is desirous of securing information so that we may acquire as original a piece as we can.

I wonder could you give us any information regarding a coin which prior to a ticket, served as admission to the theatre? If you might suggest a place where we might see the coin or a plate of same, or if you might tell us where we may obtain further information. I am sure we should indeed be grateful.

Thanking you.

Very truly,

(Miss) Grace P. Webb

Dear Madam:

I have been thinking about your note of October 31st for some days and have decided that the best thing I can do is to send you some casts of the theatre tickets used by the Greeks, which are evidently the coins to which you refer.

I think the suggestion that you may be able to use something of this nature for your Dramatic Society emblem is a very good one. You will, of course, receive suggestions as to the form rather than to the symbolism from the specimens I am enclosing.

These theatre tickets of the Greeks have a wide variety of the motives; frequently, the head of Athena appears and sometimes, as you will see on one of the casts, there are merely single letters which possibly refer to the sections in the amphitheatre.

If you care to examine further into the possibilities, I shall be very glad to have you or your representative use our library where we have illustrations of a great many more of these pieces. These, however, are in bound periodicals of which I am unable to send you the volumes.

If I may aid further when your design is completed, I shall be very glad to do so.

Trusting this will give you the information you desire,

Very respectfully yours,

Secretary
